

How Yorkshire became polite

Changes to the style and features of traditional buildings

Saturday 24 March 2012

10am to 4.30pm

Leeds Metropolitan University, Headingley (Beckett's Park) Campus, Leeds

---

The day will examine the changes that took place as classical features and different styles were adopted by those building in Yorkshire from the end of the sixteenth century, and the factors that influenced them.

The venue is the Headingley campus of Leeds Metropolitan University. It is a few miles to the north west of the city centre, easily accessible from the Leeds outer ring road (see map overleaf). There is plenty of parking on the campus. Tea, coffee and biscuits on arrival, a buffet-style sandwich lunch with refreshments, and other refreshments at intervals through the day are all included. There will be a bookstall.

The talks start at 10.30am after registration. The day school will be followed at 5pm by the AGM of the YVBSG.
